Increase in Annual Cash Receipts amidst challenging Fourth Quarter

The unprecedented restrictions placed on international and domestic travel around the world from mid-January 2020 onwards has resulted in a decline in demand for Flexiroam’s data and roaming services.

Despite the challenging final quarter of FY2020, Flexiroam’s annual cash receipts increased by 32% at A$9.1m compared to previous year (FY 2019: A$6.95m). This is attributed to an increase in consumer sales as a result of extensive efforts to grow the subscriber base and effective pricing strategies, coupled with innovative product offerings. At the inception of the COVID-19 outbreak, the decline in data usage was gradual and concentrated mainly in Asia. Sales and marketing efforts were therefore directed towards other continents and Flexiroam managed to cushion some of the initial impact.

The decline in sales every fourth quarter of the year is within management’s expectations as it is the beginning of the off-peak travel season. However, the Q4 vs Q3 comparison has recorded a significant drop, from 22% last year to 54% this year as a result of the decline in demand brought about by the travel restrictions due to the pandemic. For Q4 FY 2020, cash receipts are recorded at A$1.54m, a slight increase of 1% from previous corresponding quarter (Q4 FY 2019: A$1.52M).

Solid Growth in Global Subscribers

CUMULATIVE SUBSCRIBERS

As at 31 March 2020, cumulative subscribers compounded annual growth rate is at 86%, a decrease of 8% from previous year's (FY 2019) compounded annual growth rate of 94%. The decline in growth rate though insignificant is one of the impacts of lower demand for data and roaming services brought about by restrictions in international travel due to the COVID-19 outbreak.

FLEXIROAM

Early interests on Internet of Things (IoT)

The Group has continued to explore and unlock various opportunities along the Internet of Things (IoT) value chain through its cellular connectivity technology (see ASX announcement dated 30 March 2020).

IoT encompasses a set of advanced equipment (sensors and meters), network connectivity architecture, smart devices and software, that helps to interchange the information between machines and devices. The IoT technology holds significant potential in the overall IT and communication industry in developing countries. The IoT technology market is gaining rapid growth due the rising adoption of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and connected device based on machine learning.

At this stage, the development team is at the final phase of development of the IoT connectivity platform specifically for Mobile Point of Sales systems, Smart transportation, Logistics and healthcare devices and sensors. The platform is currently undergoing a beta trial with several enterprises and is expected to be ready for commercialisation in Q1FY2021.

It is forecasted that there will be more than 64 billion IoT devices installed around the world by 2026, with companies and consumers spending nearly $15 trillion on IoT devices, solutions and supporting systems¹. And as the IoT technology expands, it will have a particularly profound effect on businesses. Across industries, IoT will create numerous opportunities in the coming years as we head into an increasingly connected world.

It is anticipated that Flexiroam will be able to derive a monthly device subscription fee from the IoT connectivity platform.
